Russian Martial Art: Winter Workshop

Join us Sunday, January 31st for 3 hours of Systema training. Whether you are just curious about Systema, or have been training regularly, this workshop will be a great opportunity to experience some concentrated instruction and training in this unique Russian martial art. There will be no prescribed techniques or moves to memorize. All training will be principal based, with skills easily transferable to other martial arts, or indeed any endeavor.

Matt Lowes is a Systema instructor with over 25 years of experience in martial arts. In addition to regular classes and workshops he has taught classes for law enforcement and a school for the blind. The past two years he has been a guest instructor for the Pacific Martial Art Conference.
